285 million people are visually impaired

4 out of 5 cases of blindness world-wide are treatable

90% of the world’s blind live in developing countries

Statistics drawn from www.who.int/blindness
Untreated cataracts are by far the leading cause of blindness throughout the world.

Imagine adding blindness to an already difficult existence.

Sight can be restored in 20 minutes with a $20 cataract surgery.

A young orphan in Paraguay named Sabino is just one of the thousands given the chance to see again. Born with congenital cataracts in both eyes, a simple, inexpensive surgery was all it took to fully restore his sight. Now, he’s no longer living in darkness. For the first time, Sabino is going to school in his village.
BY WORKING TOGETHER, WE ARE ABLE TO:

Restore sight with surgeries to cure cataracts, the leading cause of blindness

Bring vision programs to schools around the world, giving children a chance at an education

Train doctors and nurses to deliver care to unreached communities

Build permanent eye centers to bring quality eye care to generations of people
WHERE WE’RE WORKING
